January 7th, 2024

Cykel AI PLC ("Cykel AI" or the "Company")

Cykel AI Expands Market Reach Through Strategic Recruitment Partnership with Forces Horizon

Cykel AI PLC (LSE: CYK), a leader in AI-powered digital workers, announces a strategic partnership with Forces Horizon, the AI-powered veterans' employment platform serving major enterprises including Honeywell and Korn Ferry.

The partnership brings together Cykel's digital worker technology with Forces Horizon's military expertise to revolutionise veteran recruitment across a market of over eighteen million veterans in the U.S. and U.K. Lucy, Cykel's AI recruitment partner, is anticipated to be integrated with Forces Horizon's military-to-civilian skills translation platform, creating an innovative solution that combines autonomous 24/7 recruitment capabilities with specialized veteran employment technology.

This collaboration represents a significant advancement in the application of digital workers to specialised recruitment markets. Forces Horizon's deep understanding of military experience and skills translation is intended to enhance Lucy's recruitment capabilities, while it is expected Lucy's autonomous workflow automation to significantly scale Forces Horizon's ability to place veterans in civilian roles.

Key Partnership Elements:

- Integration of Lucy's autonomous recruitment capabilities with Forces Horizon's military experience analysis
- 24/7 digital worker support for veteran candidate engagement and placement
- Accelerated recruitment processes for Forces Horizon's enterprise clients

Ewan Collinge, CEO and Co-Founder of Cykel, commented: "This partnership indicates the transformative potential of digital workers in specialized recruitment markets. Forces Horizon's unique understanding of veteran employment combined with Lucy's autonomous capabilities creates a powerful solution for both veterans and employers. Together, we're showing how digital workers can revolutionize recruitment while delivering meaningful social impact through enhanced veteran employment opportunities."

Ben Robb, CEO of Forces Horizon, added: "Partnering with Cykel represents a step-change in how we can serve veterans and employers. Lucy's digital worker capabilities perfectly complement our skills translation technology, allowing us to operate at unprecedented scale. This collaboration will significantly enhance our ability to help veterans transition into civilian careers while providing our enterprise clients with improved access to this valuable talent pool."

Expected to go live in Q1 2025, this collaboration positions Cykel AI to capture significant market share in specialized recruitment, showing the scalability of its digital worker technology across high-value sectors.

For more information Cykel's expanding digital worker ecosystem, visit www.cykel.ai

About Cykel AI

Cykel AI is an AI product and research company building digital workers that perform complex business tasks without human supervision. The company's first digital worker, Lucy, is an AI recruitment partner that helps talent teams reduce time-to-hire by automating sourcing, screening and admin tasks. Cykel's platform enables teams to operate at 10x scale.

About Forces Horizon

Forces Horizon uses cutting edge technology to help veterans/spouses transition into the civilian workspace. Their AI powered platform assists with Resume and CV creation, skills analysis, advanced job matching and more to facilitate a seamless transition.