Cykel AI PLC
("Cykel AI" or the "Company")

Cykel AI Reports 68% Month-On-Month Growth

Cykel AI PLC (LSE: CYK) is pleased to announce growing commercial momentum across its digital worker portfolio, with the Company experiencing month-on-month revenue growth alongside the recent announcement of its Bitcoin Treasury Reserve Strategy.

The Company has reported accelerating growth, increasing MRR (Monthly Recurring Revenue) by 68.4% over the past four weeks. Revenue growth has been driven primarily by Lucy, the Company's autonomous recruitment agent.

Ewan Collinge, CEO & Founder of Cykel AI, commented: "The commercial momentum we're experiencing demonstrates the growing market for autonomous digital workers. Converting our demo pipeline into revenue shows that organisations are moving beyond evaluation to implementation. I look forward to sharing further announcements about our commercial progress and details of the initial allocation of our Bitcoin Treasury Reserve Strategy in the coming days."

Recent highlights:

- 68.4% revenue growth from May 18th to June 18th, 2025
- 500+ product demos completed
- Enterprise-level agreement with Transpharmation as announced on May 29th, 2025
- Growing US customer base
- Launch of Bitcoin Treasury Reserve Strategy

"Digital workers are entering the mainstream." Collinge added. "Our expanding digital worker portfolio positions us well to capture opportunities in the growing AI agent market as we progress through Q3."

This development reinforces Cykel's position in the autonomous digital worker sector, with the Company's expanding portfolio built on TaskOS, its proprietary AI agent infrastructure, continuing to drive commercial adoption across multiple industries.
